
SPT Experience

Sleep Position Trainer trial device

For Positional OSAS patients

Provide your patient with the opportunity to test the Sleep Position Trainer (SPT). Determine if the SPT is a suitable treatment option for your patient by using the SPT Experience.

The SPT Experience is a device similar to the normal SPT with the exception that it will stop working after 28 nights. A SPT Experience report can be generated by a physician to analyze the sleep data of the patient. Based on the results the physician and the patient can conclude if the SPT is a suitable treatment option for the patient.

Prepare for next use

Once the SPT Experience trial period is finished, the device can be reset and prepared for the next patient via the SPT Connect Specialist software.

Sleep Position Trainer

The SPT measures the sleep behavior of the patient continuously. Once the patient turns into the supine position the SPT gives a gentle vibration. This reminds the patient to change their sleeping position, without disrupting their natural sleeping architecture. The device is worn in a comfortable torso strap around the upper body.

NightBalance
changing nights & days

CE medical device class I
IEC 60601-1-2 certified

Product availability

Contact our local provider for more information about the availability of the Sleep Position Trainer and the SPT Experience at www.nightbalance.com/contact.

More information?

For more information about NightBalance and our products you can contact us at info@nightbalance.com or visit www.nightbalance.com.

Molengraaffsingel 12-14, 2629JD Delft, the Netherlands.
© 2014 NightBalance B.V.. All rights reserved.